PERSONAL STATEMENT

Soccer is my life! For as long as I can remember, soccer has been my greatest passion. Since the age of seven years old I discovered my talent as a soccer athlete. I have learned how to work as a team and how to communicate well with others. Other than enhancing my people skills and my ability to work well with others, soccer has brought out a sense of leadership that has helped me excel in my soccer environment.

Every game that I play is a new challenge that I have to face and accomplish. I use the competitiveness I gained from soccer in my class room environments. The more I practice, the better I will become and all the hard work pays off in a victorious game. I implement the "practice makes perfect" philosophy to my school assignments and presentations.
